

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

C. L. Hammond of Orwell has sold 113 tons of hay to parties in New Bedford, Mass.

Seven persons in the family of Lewis Blake of West Fairlee have been ill with the measles at the same time.

Miss Ellen Hodgkins, an aged woman, was found dead in her bed in Grand Isle June 2, having passed away during her sleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Theophile Piche of Wilnooski have eight children, four boys and four girls, and all the boys are in the service of the United States.

The dining room and restaurant at the White River Junction house have adopted the European plan of service, believing that they can cater to the patrons more satisfactorily than under the American plan.

Robert S. Waterman, a veteran of the Civil war, died at his home in Royton June 2. He participated in 12 battles, the last being the one before Richmond in 1863. For many years before his death he had been blind.

Mrs. Lay, wife of the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Topsham, a few days ago received word that her only brother, Pvt. Clark G. Miller, had been killed in action in France May 10. Pvt. Clark went from Bovine Center, N. Y., and was 23 years old.

The Leonard Construction company of Chicago have commenced work on the building of an addition to the Quaker Oats company's plant in Richmond. The increased business of the concern has made the addition necessary.

F. W. Reinherm, principal of the Waterbury high school for the past 11 years, has tendered his resignation to the school board. He had been unanimously asked to return for another year, but declined. Mr. Reinherm has been very active in village affairs during his stay in Waterbury.

Mrs. Helen Libby, driving a Ford car with a New Hampshire registration, and C. A. French of Hartford, also in a Ford car, collided in White River Junction the first of the week, with considerable damage to the French car. The parties involved settled the damages. Disregard of an officer stationed at a dangerous corner was the cause of the accident.

Warren L. Bugbee of Hartford escaped death in White River Junction June 3 when his automobile took a sheer drop of 40 feet to the edge of the river. Mr. Bugbee attempted to pass a cow when the animal started in the opposite direction from what was expected, colliding with the front wheel of the car. This threw the steering apparatus out of Mr. Bugbee's hands and the car headed straight for the edge of the bank and went over before Mr. Bugbee could get it under control. The car, which was a Ford, caught in trees near the foot of the incline and the driver was thrown some distance, being badly bruised and cut, but otherwise uninjured. The car was found to have been but little damaged.

GAIN IN IMPORT DUTIES.

Collected at Port of Entry in St. Albans.

St. Albans, June 8.—The statement of importations at the Vermont customs district for the month of May as given out by Collector H. C. Comings, shows a total importation of $3,812,306, of which $3,411,321 was free and $400,985 dutiable, while the collections were $64,120.31. This was a gain over May of 1917, when the importations were $4,255,011, the free merchandise $3,333,314, the dutiable merchandise $916,697, and the collections $68,590.12.

Re-Elected with Salary Increase.

Brattleboro, June 8.—A telegram from Milwaukee, Wis., announced the re-election of Frederick L. Houghton of Brattleboro as secretary of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Opponents of Mr. Houghton tried to put through an amendment to the by-laws making the office of secretary an appointive one, but the proposal was defeated and Mr. Houghton was voted an increase in salary. The association has more than 11,000 members. The secretary's office here employs 18 persons. This is Mr. Houghton's 26th year as secretary.

Sues for Damages.

Brattleboro, June 8.—Henry R. Brown and Annie M. Brown, his wife, each have filed in county court suits for $5,000 against the Connecticut River company. They own farms north of this village which border on the Connecticut river and they allege that the farms have been damaged, crops ruined and stock drowned by flowage caused by the construction of the big dam across the river at Vernon.

The Cost of Feeding Hens.

The June Farm and Fireside says: "During March, 1918, the cost of feeding 200 hens of 15 breeds and varieties in the laying contest now in progress at Mountain Grove, Mo., averaged 21 cents a hen, or 7 of one cent per day. For the first five months of the contest the total cost was $1.02 a hen.

"The average receipts from the eggs laid and sold for each of the 200 hens was 62 cents in March and $2.45 for the first five months of the contest. The eggs from the best pen of five hens sold for $18.06 for the five-month period mentioned, which left a return above the cost of feed of $12.96 for the five hens or $2.59 a hen.

"There were 15 hens in the contest that laid $16 worth of eggs or over during the first five months of the present contest, or a gross average income of $1 for each hen or 15 pens for the five winter months."
